

Agolino Educational Services

Guided by research, grounded in everyday classroom experience

Teachers have no shortage of options when it comes to professional development.

The challenge is taking courses that will give the maximum return for your time investment.

There are plenty of courses offered by companies that are wholly invested in educational research, and they shouldn't be discounted. But there comes a point when research becomes so abstracted it loses touch, and relevance, with the classroom.

At Agolino Educational Services, we're guided by research, but grounded in everyday classroom experience. We're a small group of educators with over 100 years of combined classroom experience at all educational levels, and nearly 20 years of combined experience offering professional development courses to educators. We pride ourselves on taking cutting edge educational research and connecting it to methods that have proven successful in our own classrooms.

Our courses are available online, so you can complete them at your own pace from the comfort of your own home. We've carefully taken steps to preserve the engaging, thoughtful discussions participants loved in our traditional classes. If you've never taken an online class before, fear not! Each course includes a training module to get you comfortable with the online process, and we offer technical support should you run into any trouble.

Our PDE approved courses are 3 credit/90 hour Act 48 eligible. We would love to help you broaden your teaching skillset on your path to professional growth. We're realistic, practical, and approachable educators who are truly passionate about what we do.

"Taking classes with Jen and Joe Agolino has been an absolutely rewarding experience."

- Scott, Elementary Health & Physical Education

"They have filled in gaps where traditional professional development courses have fallen short."

- Drew, High School Economics

"I feel that I walk away with information that is both practical and applicable to my classroom."

- Alison, High School Learning Support
